We invite you to begin this inspiring journey at COIL Yoga.

Your guides for this journey...

Katie Flinn, E-RYT 500

Peter Sterios E-RYT 500

Tawny Sterios RYT 500

Kristin English RYT 500 C-IAYT

WHO WILL BENEFIT FROM THIS TEACHER TRAINING

- Students passionate about learning the history, practice and theory of Yoga beyond the asanas.
- Any aspiring teacher who would like to complete a 200 hour Yoga Alliance certified teacher training.
- Individuals who have completed a 200 hour teacher training and would like to deepen their yoga experience and expand their teaching and intuitive skills.
- No specific prior yoga certification is required; however, we REQUIRE a minimum of at least 6 months committed practice prior to this training.
- Body workers, massage therapists, healers and other health care professionals who are looking for alternative means to add insight, awareness, hands on experience and depth to their current practices.

REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFICATION:

- Full participation and 100% attendance at all components of the COIL Yoga Teacher Training is required.
- Completion of independent study materials, homework and non-contact hours assignments
- Certification could be jeopardized by tardiness, early departures and any missed modules for the training.

EXPECTATIONS OF YOU FROM YOUR TEACHERS

- While it is not essential that you plan to teach to participate in this training, it is essential that you have a commitment to yourself, your fellow trainees and the training. Please come to each module ready to jump in and participate fully.
- It is expected that you to have the willingness, health and time to commit to 100% of this training.
- Communicate openly and honestly with your teachers about any concerns, issues etc. you are having that are affecting your ability to “show up” during the training.

STEPS TO APPLY FOR THE TRAINING

- Schedule a time to attend a class with the owner Katie Flinn, please email kflinn@coilyoga.com to set this up. I request you do this IF you have NOT taken a class from me before.
- Fill out the full application for the 200 HR program, not JUST the online inquiry.
- Place deposit once the above steps have been completed by May 1st 2019.

Welcome to the JOURNEY...

A few words on how this training was developed...Each of our faculty has a wealth of knowledge and experience to offer students of this training. I know them all personally and have the highest level of respect for them as people and teachers of this sacred tradition. They all embody the lifestyle, teachings of Yoga on, and off the mat and serve as true role models for their students. They are humble, honest, and transparent on many levels. It was easy for me to decide who I wanted to invite to be a part of this experience for the students of this training because of my confidence and trust in these amazing teachers. Each one has a different background and perspective on Yoga and how it can help us in this day and age of our modern culture and lifestyles. We are here as students first always, and then guides next. Remembering how important it is to be able to put ourselves into the fire first so we can learn from experience. All of these teachers here are practicing what they have lived and are living, this embodiment is such a valuable tool in becoming a diverse and experienced teacher of Yoga.

The opportunity to learn and deepen your Yoga journey is here, the teachers have committed, and now we invite you to join us, we would be honored to be your guides on this intimate and soulful journey.

Sunday 10:00-3:00 5 hrs.

Full Weekend Description

Understanding the anatomy of the human form is a relationship of dedication and flexibility, quite like the unfolding of the Yogic path. As we progress on this path of Self-Study, a natural desire to learn a little more about the mechanics of the body naturally arises. In this module we will look at our own bodies as the laboratory for experiment and experience. We will study our anatomy on the page and on the mat in a collaborative manner, so that we can feel more confidence in our own practices as well as our ability to share the Yoga asana's. If you have aspects of the physical practice that have eluded you over the years pertaining to your own body (or others bodies), bring your questions and an open mind as we explore these beautiful human machines together.

About Kristin English:

The path of yoga is a journey of self-study, self-inquiry. A journey in, toward our deepest Self. Kristin believes that the key to true happiness, true contentment, is through a shift in our relationship with our selves.

“Learning to re-connect the heart, mind, body and breath are key elements on this path of personal, and universal, healing. The practice of yoga is the development of conscious connection that will enrich all aspects of our inner and outer lives.”

Her passion is the sharing of awareness and personal growth with people in all stages of life. Fusing foundations in Hatha Yoga, Therapeutic Yoga, Bio-Mechanics and Vipassana Meditation, she provides a safe and healing environment for the process of transformation to flower.

This module is OPEN to the outside public, Yoga teachers previously certified, and students who have a keen interest in learning about anatomy and physiology as it relates to Yoga.

January 17-19th Module #6 Pre/Postnatal Yoga and Intro to Ayurvedic Self Care with Tawny Sterios

The Full Weekend Description

This weekend course will provide new and experienced teachers alike with creative, yoga-based tools for personal self-care as well as offer ways to properly teach to your female students changing bodies whether they are pregnant, postpartum, menstruating or menopausal. Friday afternoon and Saturday, you will learn how to safely teach both prenatal and postnatal appropriate yoga poses and sequences. Emphasis will be placed on the physical, emotional and mental needs that a woman experiences during these transformational times and how yoga can support her on her journey. Guidance will also be given on how to alter your asana practice with the seasons, the phases of the moon and the hormonal changes in ones body. On Sunday you will be introduced to the fundamentals of Ayurvedic Self Care which will focus on tools, techniques and choices that keep teachers vibrant, inspired and inspiring through various yoga lifestyles. The weekends' explorations will deepen and expand how one teaches and one practices Yoga.

Intro to Ayurvedic Self Care

“The doctor of the future will give no medicine, but will interest her or his patients in the care of the human frame, in a proper diet, and in the cause and prevention of disease.” -Thomas Edison

This helpful class is about personal stewardship of your own well-being. This day will introduce the fundamentals of Ayurveda, the sister science to yoga and how to use this ancient healing modality in our modern lives. Ayurvedic view of life, health, and healing will be explained. Daily practices will be taught and modeled, these simple tools can become a regular and supportive part of your yogic path and wellness. Integration of topics such as eating for ones dosha, neti pot use, abhyanga, mama massage, tongue scraping, skin health, sleep, essential oil, various alternative healing practices and communication tools will be introduced. These practices are all designed to sustain one's life energy and pursuits using nature's best medicine. After all, in order to contribute to others in a meaningful way, we must first start with care, awareness, and compassion for self.

Prenatal, Postnatal /Yoga For Women:

“The best thing we can teach any mother is how to listen to her intuition, how to go inside and find her inner voice.”
-Kimberly Ann Johnson

Yoga becomes more powerful and helpful when appropriate instruction is given to the uniqueness of each student. The Friday and Saturday classes will guide teachers in understanding the specific needs of pregnant, postpartum mothers and their bodies changing needs. We will explore what asanas are beneficial during this time as well as which ones to avoid practicing. Combining breathing exercise, physical movements and meditations that both keep the female body and psyche strong as well as flexible during this special time. Encouragement will be placed on how to help support a women in trusting her changing body, its abilities in birthing and it's innate capacity to heal itself postpartum. We will follow with a broad stroke of addressing yoga specifically for women. Revealing how yoga can support your health during the seasonal, monthly and hormonal shifts. Majority of the class will address but not limited to: hormonal health, the pelvic floor and the energies centers associated, the first three chakra centers. A woman's body goes through shifts each month and also over the course of her life, for example menstrual, pregnancy and menopausal all of which can be supported and guided skillfully with yoga. Attention will be placed on how yoga sequencing, pace and focus can be adapted as our bodies change and how the moon phases and season's affects ones practice. We will have time to both talk and learn about these changes and practice different postures and movements to support them.
